Cloverport will have a larger crowd on every day than either Louisville or Hardinsburg. We are not a local town.

G. W. Wilson, inventor of the Wilson sewing machine, died suddenly Monday of heart disease at San Jose, Cal. He was once a poor workman, but died a millionaire.

By a decision rendered by Judge Barr, of the United States Circuit Court, at Owensboro, Monday, the separate coach law is declared unconstitutional. The case will, of course, be appealed to the higher courts. Should Judge Barr be right, it will reverse the law in all the states of the South where it now exists.

Gov. James S. Wornham has withdrawn from the congressional race in this district because of his declining health. This leaves the field open to Hon. A. B. Montgomery, and he is not likely to have any opposition before the party. This being the case, there will be no primary, but Montgomery will be declared the nominee by the Democratic Committee.

The strike of the coal miners is, it seems, becoming quite serious. The strike is a general one, and getting quite near us. It is to continue for any length of time, it may have a perceptible effect on the price of coal in this and all other localities. Coal, too, plays such an important part in the life on the traffic of the country that it can not be gotten along without. Now in the state of Kansas, for instance, they burn coal for fuel, just as much as this that could be thought of in Kentucky, coal or no coal. There are too many other uses for the article if they were ever so abundant. One of these is in making good "firebricks" and "refractory" bricks. It is in this employment now it will go far to mark that. So we think the matter with the striking miners may become serious.

The State League of Republican clubs met in annual session at Frankfort one day last week. There was a fairly good representation, reports say, and the leaders were in very high spirits. The speaking was of a patriotic order, and, of course, and the Democrats got it in the neck severely. Because of an era of hard times, Republicans are endeavoring to make considerable capital of it by laying it all on the Democrats. But the present we are not in the best of shape to resent the charge, either. There is not much probability of the Republicans capturing Kentucky, and the Democrats sense, but they feel very sanguine just the same. It has not been many years since a "State League of Republican Clubs" was an organization unknown to Kentucky Republicans. But year by year the party has gone on apparently growing in strength, or becoming bolder in their assertions, one or the other, for they seemed determined to be heard.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages and in all its forms. It is called "Catarh." It is the only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity. Catarh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up his constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers, that they offer $100,000 for each case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials. Address: F. J. CHESEY & CO., Toledo, O. Burned To Death.

A Sweet Little Girl Loses Her Precious Life While Helping "Papa" Fire Logs.

McDANIEL, Ky., June 2, 1894.—News has reached us of a frightful accident which occurred in the Antioch neighborhood. Mr. Milton Tucker, a fine young man, who was a well-to-do farmer, was killed by a fire log. He was at home and was working with the mother son returned to the house, the little girl remarking that the woodshed and help papa. In trying to fire a log her clothing was ignited and before her father could reach her she was wrapped in flames from head to foot. She was burned to insensibility and died in a short time, while Mr. Tucker is still suffering from the frightful burns received while trying to extinguish the flames. The doctors think one arm and perhaps both will have to be amputated.

Last Sunday was Children's Day here among the colored people. Nobody objected to it, particularly, except those good house-keepers, who turned up minus a cat on Sunday morning.

The spring term of the Hardinsburg Normal College closed last Friday. There were about one hundred and twenty-five pupils enrolled, and this is a very satisfactory showing for the first term. The Summer Session term began last Monday.

School Superintendent James W. Miller was looking his best last Friday and Saturday. They were examination days and a number of the best looking boys from the country were in town. It is said that if the bachelor Superintendent allows his present official term to close without having found a partner for life, the chances are against his ever being infinitely happy.

Kinkelode and Board's new drug store is receiving the finishing touches. It promises to be the handsomest store of the kind in the district of the north. One thing about it that will please the public is that the old drug bottles now in use in their present establishment, and which have been battered about here for the last forty years will be taken out and new ones, beautifully labelled will take their place. It is predicted that the new drug store will "Rise and Shine."

There were fifty scholars here last week before the examining board for teachers' certificates. The examination is more rigid this year than common. The number of questions are double what they have been and some of them are very hard. The boys, who thought seem to get down to their work that much more. If some of them fail to get a first class certificate they need not be discouraged. Prof. Joel Pile and Miss Lilla Cooper are the examiners.

REWORTH LEAVER'S NOTES.

Interesting vesper service on Sunday afternoon.

Important matters for the business meeting this month. Let all be present.

We want a good report from the Mercy and Help Department.

The League has lost an active member in Miss Florence Cain, who left for her home in Besseville, last Monday.

While so many members are absent those remaining should make up in zeal for what they lack in numbers. It does not speak well for the third Vice-President department that the bell should fall to ring on that Thursday evening. Why don't the Literary department give us another literary treat for next month. A good collection would be appreciated.

YELLOW LAKE.

Little Mary Stornis is on the sick list. Mr. Fred Frazer can boast of having the prettiest collection of any around.

Robert Cherry and Joe Rhodes dined with their grand-parents last Sunday.

Miss Belle Mattingly, of Hardinsburg, attended church at Long Lick last Sunday.

Mr. Jim W. Mattingly was endeavored by the silver tones of a Belle last Sunday.

The boys who took in the excursion last Saturday report the home coming pretty rough.

Father Ford preached one of his best sermons last Sunday available for the occasion—the first of Corpus Christi.

Our dandy young friend, Francis Thomas, was seen yesterday his way to call on his favorite "Mallard" last Sunday.

We regret to say Mrs. Mary Akers, of Hardinsburg, has postponed her intended visit at the home of her parents this spring.

Shirley Rhodes reported that he landed the famous and poetical eagle, (George W. Randolph) safely and quietly at his penitentiary home, Eldridgeville.

Mr. Frank Rhodes, Sr., accompanied by his niece Miss Veronica Mattingly, went to see his sister-in-law, Mrs. Tom Rhodes near Kirk, who is dangerously ill, last Tuesday.

The crop prospect in this neighborhood is not very flattering at present. The frost and cold weather has stopped the growth of corn and the cut-corns are badly injured.

Some persons are annoyed with hawks and thieves, but Miss Maggie Rhodes is wonderfully amused with a pair of blue jeans seen last week visiting her near neighbors borrowing all their rats to drive away her dusky pests.

It was really bad after some of our young folks having such a delightful time at the late dance, that they happened to the last accident of getting their vehicle broken as they went home.

Mr. Bob breaking through the mud and pulling a horse carriage on a rainy evening is quite a contrast from a cozy party, a charming girl to talk to and wearing a gold watch and chain, is, in fact, a very different thing.

I do not intend to tell any hard things on our young friend, Mr. Bob Rhodes, this week. He is too good a boy for us all to be telling him, and then he says he is leaving so much fun at his expense. Well, I am going to keep it all a secret about how handsome she looked last Sunday and how Bob Rhoads down his head and sighed when she rode swiftly away knowing he was without a horse, bridle or saddle and that he must alone "homeward tread his weary way."

His Introduction.

Mr. H. Holmyard, of London, England, General Secretary of the Kentucky Company Limited, and the Breckenridge and Pineville, Syndicate Limited, was in the city yesterday. He has come to assume the duties of Mr. Wm. Hopper, resident here, who goes to England for a vacation, and will remain "ill" here.

Mr. Holmyard's introduction to Pineville consisted in hearing a number of reports that he stepped off the top of As he walked into his hotel, a few moments later, two men lay dying on the floor, and a third, a young girl, was the notorious Andrew Johnson, the Marshal of the town.

Mrs. J. S. Richardson, Mrs. W. F. Grinnell, Miss Lida Haynes and Mrs. C. S. Grinnell sent Miss Mary Dee Pusey a box of beautiful flowers.

Bro. Cherry commenced a series of sermons last Sunday. He announced during the winter that he would preach a series during the spring and summer.

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Henderson (nee, Emma Hodges), of Irvington, were all town Thursday. Emma was a sweet, interesting pupil of mine in Garrett and I would have loved to have seen her.

I have seen a notice of Moreman & Jacob's picture gallery at Cloverport. I have also seen several specimens of their beautiful little pictures and for execution and finish they are first class. See them.

Mrs. Bob Smith's left last Sunday for Memphis, Tenn., to visit her son, Will Richardson and from there she will go to Cripple Creek, Colorado to spend the summer with her daughter, Mrs. Jim Smith.

This little band has accomplished a good deal in the past by their exertions to help the church. Give us your large attendance and keep up the good work.

Hampton College Commencement came off on Tuesday the 5th and to which I had an invitation from Miss Mary Dee Pusey who graduated with honors. Attired in a white tulle silk with white chiffon overcoat, she wore a beautiful toilet. We all know she was the impersonation of true loveliness.

Mary Dee always been in reality a student and she realized that one grain of knowledge gained by the exertion of her own intellect was worth a bushel full of that borrowed from others. She wisely profited by such clear conceptions so her knowledge is hers forever, and as she steps across the threshold into another phase of life I hope and believe she realizes that in the grand arena awaiting her, to have a definite knowledge and perfect understanding of the many problems encountered will enable her to interpret and solve them intelligently and profitably.

Dr. and Mrs. Pusey attended the morning exercises and witnessed the distribution of diplomas. Miss Maudie Hazard was also present and remained to a reception and dance at night in honor of the graduating class.

"Beb," of the Courier Journal, gives some sound, practical advice to young girls in her letter of Saturday, 30th. She doesn't advocate young girls leaving home to seek employment if it can be avoided and believes a "good daughter, faithful wife and wise mother" paramount.

to all else, and indeed, I freely coincide with her. But in this country where the fall from opulence to poverty is often sudden and unexpected, young people, girls and boys, should heed the advice of older ones when that advice perhaps has cost the gray hair a life's failure to acquire. Not the least important of such advice is this, "Master some avocation which will yield you sustenance. If not a fortune, so that in case adversity overtakes you, you will have something to rely upon that cannot be taken from you. Be sure to master your avocation or you are left, no matter how much you may be thorough from the foundation up. There is always demand for skilled labor or a master of his or her business or profession and, but to the contrary, if an avenue is inaccessible at home seek one abroad, and as I have said before and now repeat with emphasis, a true, worthy woman need never fear to go where duty calls or business demands. Was Miss Shaw, of the London Times, the less womanly because she went as a special correspondent to Australia? Was she the less womanly when, upon her return, she delivered a lecture before the Royal Colonial Institute upon the resources of that country? Did not all true, noble, right-thinking men and women applaud her for having accomplished her duty and being able to address a lecture before that august assembly that learned body? Yes, and admit it was a red-letter day for women. There are few such women as Miss Shaw perhaps, but every woman can endeavor to cultivate the same qualities of mind and ability, but many who honor for themselves and their sex by the manner in which they acquire themselves of duties. The chords of such lives may not play evenly, melody and harmony may sometimes be lacking and oftentimes the hard-strings may vibrate in a wretched arpeggio style, but inspirations come and they are aided by magnificent breath whose swellings can no more be measured than the ocean can be measured by one stream flowing into it. There is artistic affinity, musical affinity and soul affinity just as there is in affinity and just so when a girl or woman launches forth to stem the tide, she soon knows by intuition the course from the flow, to that trust and who to avoid and she doesn't have to be a professional mind reader either and to that young friend who has asked by letter for these things, I would add, no avocation you choose, no avenue of business followed, no amount of information gained, or means accumulated should detract from ladylike demeanor and true womanhood and if you have a good man exchange all gladly for his love and protection but never be persuaded to take the step without true affection.

Base Ball.
The Cloverport base ball club, accompanied by several friends, went to Stephenson last Friday, where was played what was called a rather hum game of ball. The Cloverporters were victorious, however, by a score of 20 to 16.

The same clubs will cross bats at Cloverport today, and the game promises to be a better one. The grounds are situated at the west end of Wall street. Seats have been prepared for the ladies and the fair sex are especially invited to come out and witness the game.

Several Cloverport people went to Cannelton last Sunday to witness a game of ball between the Cannelton club and an amateur team from Louisville, and came back thoroughly disgusted with the proceeding.

The Cannelton club was about to get beat and they had to resort to their accustomed scheme of ball-dodging and hustling up the game with a row.

Council Meeting.
The City Council met in regular session, Monday night, and despite the fact that the Mayor and Councilman have a grand opening only a sparse away, every Councilman and the Mayor was in his seat.

The laws so requiring it, the Council proceeded to elect a Board of Health, whose duty is to see that the city is kept in proper sanitary condition, and act in accord with the State Board of Health.

Dr. T. O. Owen and Clayton Croson were the persons chosen to compose the board. Council then adjourned.

BRECKENRIDGE NEWS.

Jas. D. & V. G. Baugh, Editors and Proprietors.

WEDNESDAY, JUNE 6, 1904.

DECORATION.

her that they sacrificed, are ever willing to sacrifice, that which is most dear to all men in behalf of the cause they thought was right. And today while we do not disparage the decorating of graves with flowers—we are not so far from it as we are from the graves of dead soldiers, too much cannot be said, too many flowers cannot be piled on their tombs. Yet the lesson I would have us learn by this occasion is that so long as there is a desire to pay respect to our heroes slain—so long as we drop a flower or shed a tear on the turf, then so long as we sing praises to their memory to that extent we know their spirit exists in the hearts of the people. Our fellow citizens a love and profound respect for true patriotism in their fellow men. The observance of decoration day is in keeping with the custom of nearly all, if not all nations. The Romans among the old Greeks, Trojans and Romans, the dead soldiers who had died in their country's cause were always honored in memory. At the siege of ancient Troy by the famous warrior Hector, who commanded the Trojan forces, was slain the whole city mourned his death, not only the city but the world with all the pomp that could be displayed.

Such honors fillen to her hero paid and peaceful sleep the mighty Hector's shade. There is a point to be learned in the treatment of the Romans of their soldiers. In the earlier history of Rome the soldiers were composed of Roman citizens, it was considered an honor to be a Roman soldier. Consequently the Roman soldiers both living and dead were honored by the Roman people. But in the days of the Republic the Roman army were filled up with foreigners who were hired to fight. From that time the Roman legions began to lose their power. The Roman citizens had become weak and effeminate and could no longer make good soldiers. While the hired troops were not recruited from this cause Rome could not withstand the repeated attacks of the Germanic tribes, and Rome of the north and fell. It has been the fortune of the U. S. to have her army composed of citizens of the land, this makes them more patriotic while they lived and makes their better loved while dead.

The following committees aided in making the ceremonies of the day perfect and pleasant:

Gravestone Inspectors—Nancy Tait, commander, Letitia Bricker, Nell Hendrick and Mary Smith.

Flower Gatherers—Mary Harris, commander, Mattie Bricker, Nell Hendrick, Ida Pate.

Tallies—Nancy Tait, commander, Melissa Perkins, Mrs. Nelson Jolly, Margaret Bricker, Mrs. Martha Hendrick, Mrs. W. C. Tait, Mrs. Mary Patterson, Ida Bricker.

Guards—Jerry Perkins, commander, Fred Baum, Wm. Pate, Ed. Pate, James Mattingly.

J. N. Tait was officer of the day. A committee was also appointed to visit the Bricker grave yard and decorate the grave of Geo. Compton, son of Henry Compton, another soldier.

The Tait neighborhood is a portion of Breckenridge county that has an interesting history. In 1861, when the great rebellion was in its infancy, both sides were in this neighborhood recruiting troops to help fight the battles of the cause they thought was right, and many men of the neighborhood joined either the blue or the gray and went to the front. In 1862 the Hon. J. D. Wilson was recruiting for the federal cause in this neighborhood, and Miss Annie E. Tait, now Mrs. Wm. Tait, was the first person to enlist. Through her enthusiasm and influence and his efforts about thirty men were obtained, and Mr. Wilson took them to Harbison to join the 12th Kentucky. But here Mr. Wilson was so unfortunate as to have them stolen from him and enlisted in the 3rd Kentucky.

The nip of a poisonous snake is but a slight remove from being more dangerous than the poison of Scrofula in the blood. Ayer's Sassaaparilla purifies the vital fluid, expels all poisonous substances, and supplies the elements of life, health and strength.

Wm. Arman, who murdered his wife and child, was tried in the Circuit Court last week. A plea of insanity was brought in by the defendant's counsel which was denied by the state. After all the witnesses for the defense were heard, Arman himself was put on the stand on Friday at 9 o'clock and said "I'll court adjourned, (one hour and a half later) Next morning he took the stand for an hour and a half, making three hours that he continued in making his confession. He entered into the most minute details of the crime, and made a full confession, but says he could not remember when the deed was done, nor just how it was done. He seems to think that tampering with spiritualism was the cause of the murder. The case was given to the jury at 4 o'clock Saturday evening. The jury was then led by the bailiff to a room on the lower floor where they remained one hour and a half and then returned with the verdict "Guilty of murder in the first degree with imprisonment for life. While the jury was out the court room was crowded with anxious hearts to hear the result. When the verdict was read by the clerk there could be no change seen in the countenance of the prisoner, and being asked by Judge Coff to arise, he got up apparently without any excitement and heard the sentence pronounced. Being asked by the judge what he had to say, he said "I will accept the decision of the court, I promised to do so."

RHODELIA.

Items are scarce. Mr. J. R. Mitchell was in town on business Saturday. Mr. H. C. Newell went to the Irvington mill Friday. Miss Julia O'Brien was the guest of Miss Eva Roberts Tuesday night. Mrs. Emma and Sarah Vessels were the guests of Mrs. G. H. Barry Friday. Mr. Will Miles, of West View, has lately located his farmstead at his son-in-law's, Mrs. Sam Roberts. Mr. and Mrs. G. H. Barry were the happy recipients of a brand new baby boy last Sunday. (Did is smiling a brand new smile.)

We sympathize with the boys who ventured out in the cold rain Sunday as the prior storms have all been taken down. The cricket party at Mr. Tom Berger's Sunday proved a success. Some sixty odd attended and surely there was never an evening spent more enjoyably than Sunday.

Mr. Emmett Elder was seen on the Plaza Sunday inquiring for a new suit. I think there must be some other attraction for Emmett, as he never called for the suit.

Thirty-two children made their first Holy Communion at first Sunday. They looked very happy. The girls were dressed in new white covered with long white veils and beautiful wreathe on their heads. I was just visiting George Washington Randolph's rhymes concerning the Republican county candidates, and I was much amused. The News suggests he is a good Democrat and it seems to be a pity that he is a home thief. It is hard indeed that the horse thieves turn out that way.
